CAREER SUMMARY

Emeritus Professor Eric Udjo is an independent consultant and holds a doctorate degree in medical demography from the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, University of London. He retired from academia on June 30 2019. His last academic position before retirement was Head of the Demographic Research Division at the Bureau of Market Research, University of South Africa from May 2007 to June 2019. He was a research director in the Demography Unit in the Social Aspects of HIV/AIDS and Health programme, Human Sciences Research Council (HSRC) before joining the Bureau of Market Research and before that was responsible for demographic analysis, and statistical consulting for six years at Statistics South Africa.

Professor Udjo has substantial academic and research experience which includes experience in implementing and managing research projects, processing, analysis and evaluation of survey and census data. He played a key role in the evaluation of South Africa's 1996, 2001 and 2011 censuses including chair of the quality control committee of the 1996 South Africa population Census resulting in several technical papers. He was one of the consultants to South Africa's Statistics Council that evaluated the 2011 South Africa census before the official release of the results. His experience in analysing census, Demographic and Health Survey or DHS-type enquiries spans over 35 years. He has expertise in demographic modelling. Some of his works include: A re-look at recent statistics on mortality in the context of HIV/AIDS with particular reference to South Africa; Modelling the impact of mandatory retirement age on the size of the workforce in tertiary sector organisations in South Africa; Estimating South Africa's Black adult female social classes, demographic differentials and determinants; The relationship of between the child support grant and teenage fertility in post-apartheid South Africa; Estimating maternal mortality and causes in South Africa.

Professor Udjo has worked as a consultant in various capacities, which includes an empirical validation of the relationship between child survival and fertility for the United Nations in 1992, a review of population and strategic development in Botswana (1996) for UNFPA. He was also consultant demographer to the Drafting Committee of the National Population Policy, Ministry of Finance and Development Planning, Botswana (1995/1996). As a consultant to UNDP and UNFPA, has undertaken the following training activities to build capacity in the African continent: (1) Training of senior statisticians and demographers from Eastern, Southern and Western African Bureau of Statistics in Naivasha, Kenya (2007) in demographic modeling in the context of HIV/AIDS; (2) Training of senior statisticians and demographers from Uganda's Central Bureau of Statistics in Entebbe, Uganda in population projections and demographic impact of HIV/AIDS; (3) training of students and academics at the Eduardo Mondlane University, Maputo, Mozambique in population projections and demographic impact of HIV/AIDS (2008); (4) Training of senior statisticians and demographers from Swaziland, Lesotho and Ethiopia in Leribe, Lesotho in population projections and demographic impact of HIV/AIDS (2010); (5) Training of fourteen senior experts from Ethiopia's Central Statistical Agency in advanced techniques of demographic modeling (2011) in the analysis of census and survey data; (6) Training of Statistics Botswana core staff and projections of Botswana population (2014). Prof Udjo was a technical adviser on behalf of UNFPA to the 2016 South Africa Demographic and Health Survey. In August – Sept 2019, Prof Udjo served as UNFPA's Lesotho's consultant to assist Lesotho's Bureau of Statistics in producing projections of Lesotho's population 2016-2036.

He has also taught at the universities of Maiduguri (Nigeria), Zimbabwe (as a post-doctoral fellow of Population Council of America) and Botswana. He has written over 140 research articles either as book/book chapters, or peer reviewed international journal articles, or conference papers, or monographs. He was Editor-in-Chief of the Southern African Journal of Demography from 2009- 2015. He has been an associate of several universities in South Africa. As a visiting scholar to the University of Pennsylvania, collaborated with other researchers to produce a book on the demography of South Africa. In recognition of his contribution to Science (in the field of demography), Professor Udjo was awarded membership in the New York Academy of Sciences in 1998. Additionally, in 1999, his biographical profile was selected for inclusion in the 18th edition of Marquis Who's Who in the World as well as in the 10th edition of Marquis Who's Who in the World in Science and Engineering in 2008-2009. He was a recipient of the UNISA 2015 Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Research in recognition of his contribution to demographic research in Africa. In recognition of his contribution to demographic research, the U.S.A based Strategic and Competitive Intelligence Professionals in May 2017 awarded Prof Udjo the first ever Innovation In Integrated Intelligence in Research award.

Research specialty & interests

1. Demographic estimation and modelling (fertility, mortality, migration)
2. Population projections and small area estimation
3. Survey design, processing and analysis
4. Software development for demographic estimation

Computing

Computer programming languages: Familiar with FORTRAN-77, competent in BASIC

Software development: Developed a package for indirect demographic estimation which includes:

- P/F ratio analysis for fertility
- Fitting the Relational Gompertz model for fertility analysis
- Childhood mortality analysis & taking into account AIDS
- Maternal and paternal orphanhood analysis for adult mortality estimation & taking into account AIDS
- Sisterhood estimation for maternal mortality analysis
- Construction of model life tables taking account of HIV/AIDS

Computer packages: Microsoft Office (Word, EXCEL Power Point), SPSS, MortPak, PAS, Spectrum, EPP.

Major international training workshops attended

1. Was one of 22 West African demographers selected and participated in a workshop on demographic surveys in Fajara, The Gambia, Nov-Dec 1987 sponsored by the International Union for the Scientific Study of Population.
2. Was one of 10 African social scientists selected and participated in a workshop on the determinants of health and mortality in Africa, at the London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine, Sept-Oct 1988, sponsored by the Institute for Resource Development, Westinghouse, U. S. A.
3. Has conducted training of many senior government and NGO officials, policy makers and academics for UNDP in demographic modelling in workshops in several African countries including South Africa, Uganda, Kenya.

Research awards

- The University of Maiduguri in 1982 to study levels and differentials in fertility and mortality among some Kanuri of N. E. Nigeria. Total amount, N5 600.
- The Rockefeller Foundation in 1988, RF 87069 Allocation 46: to study the determinants of fertility in a Nigeria community. Total amount US$25 800.

Demographic sample surveys conducted

- Designed and conducted a single round retrospective survey among some Kanuri of N. E. Nigeria in 1982. The sample size comprised a total of 10 870 Kanuri; 3 241 women aged 14-50 were also interviewed.

- Designed and conducted a single round retrospective survey in Biu Local Government area, N. E. Nigeria in 1989. The sample size comprised a total of 15 035 persons; 3 104 women aged 15-49 were also interviewed.
